

You are the

Decisional Procrastinator

You struggle with making choices and committing to a course of action. You delay starting because you want to make the 'perfect' decision first.

START HERE

Use decision-making frameworks (pros/cons, criteria weighting)

Strategies That Work For You

- Use decision-making frameworks (pros/cons, criteria weighting)
- Set time limits for decision-making
- Accept that most decisions are reversible
- Start with small decisions to build confidence
- Focus on 'good enough' decisions rather than perfect ones

Your Strengths

- Thorough analysis of options and consequences
- Careful consideration of multiple perspectives
- Thoughtful and measured approach
- Ability to see complexity in situations

Often Confused With

These patterns overlap. If your result only half fits, it's worth reading about these too.

Perfectionist Procrastination

Needing the right answer and needing the perfect answer are nearly the same trap.

Avoidant Procrastination

If deciding feels dangerous, not deciding is avoidance with a respectable name.

GO DEEPER

Decisional Procrastinator · €5

payhip.com/b/WKSjw

This is a self-report assessment, not a clinical diagnosis.

procrastitype.jnorthwood.com · retake the quiz at procrastitype.jnorthwood.com/quiz